Student Leave of Absence

Students who are unable to continue their studies due to a serious medical condition, including pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions, may request a medical leave of absence. Requests for medical leave must be supported by documentation from a licensed healthcare provider verifying the need for the leave and the anticipated duration.

A medical leave of absence may not exceed 180 calendar days. Students approved for a medical leave will be eligible to return to their program without loss of academic standing, provided they meet all program and College re-entry requirements.

Before returning, students may be required to provide documentation from a healthcare provider indicating they are able to resume program activities. Students will work with their Program Coordinator to develop a plan for re-entry and completion of any missed coursework or program requirements.

Technical College of the Rockies is committed to complying with applicable federal and state laws regarding medical leave, pregnancy accommodations, and nondiscrimination.

Students seeking a medical leave of absence must complete the Leave of Absence Request Form, which is available on the Technical College of the Rockies website under the Students section.
